LAS TROPAS AUXILIARES HISPANAS

por Juan José Palao Vicente – Universidad de Salamanca

- García y Bellido, A. (1961): "El exercitus hispanicus desde Augusto a Vespasiano." AEspA, 34, pp. 114-60. Aunque se trata de un trabajo antiguo y algunos aspectos se han modificado, sigue siendo útil.
- Gudea, N., Zahariade, M. (1980): "Spanish units in Roman Dacia." AEspA, 53, pp. 61-76. Constituye un trabajo que analiza el conjunto de las unidades de origen hispano destinadas a la conquista y posterior integración de esa provincia.
- Haynes, I. (2001): "The impact of auxiliary recruitment on provincial societies from Augustus to Caracalla", en: L. de Blois (ed.), Administration, Prosopography and Appointment Policies in the Roman Empire, Amsterdam, p. 62-83. Interesante trabajo que revisa el impacto del reclutamiento de auxiliares en las provincias.
- Haynes, I. (2013): Blood of the Provinces. The Roman Auxilia and the Making of Provincial Society from Augustus to the Severans. Oxford: Oxford University Press. No se trata de un trabajo al uso donde se analicen todas las tropas auxiliares. Presenta nuevos enfoques sobre aspectos muy concretos y constituye la monografía más actualizada sobre el tema.
- Saddington, B. (1982): The Development of the Roman Auxiliary forces from Caesar to Vespasian (49 BC-AD 79). Harare: University of Zimbabwe. Constituye una obra básica para todo el período de la configuración de las tropas auxiliares.
- Spaul, J. (1994): Ala². The Auxiliary Cavalry Units of the Pre-Diocletianic Imperial Roman Army. Andover: Nectoreca Press. Esta obra es una puesta al día de la obra de C. Cichorius. Se trata de un trabajo completo, aunque no exento de algunos errores. Conviene comprobar los datos antes de usarlos.
- Spaul, J. (2000): Cohors². The evidence for and a short history of the auxiliary infantry units of the Imperial Roman Army. Oxford, BAR International Series 841. Sucede lo mismo que con la monografía anterior.
